THE ART AND SCIENCE OF ESTHETIC DENTISTRY... PAST, PRESENT, & FUTURE

In many ways, media has paralleled the dramatic rise of esthetic dentistry through the years. In fact, media coverage has been instrumental in placing our profession in the very center of the world of beauty, and the practice of esthetic dentistry at the forefront of dentistry itself. Esthetics in dentistry has emerged from a secondary consideration in treatment planning to an integral aspect of all disciplines of dentistry.

At the same time, the predictability of osseo-integration coupled with the ability of implant supported restorations to cosmetically equal that of conventional crown and bridge has made implants a viable treatment choice even in the most demanding partially edentulous environment.

However, to integrate esthetics, implants, and esthetic dentistry in day-to-day practice, the focus must move towards expediting the process with simplification and predictability. Fortunately, evolving 3D cone imaging and computer technologies, innovative products, and new techniques allow for ever increasing efficiencies.

This presentation will cover state-of-the-art integrated esthetic diagnosis and treatment today, and a brief look at the future.

THE CHRISTENSEN "BOTTOM LINE" – 2011

This fast moving abbreviated "bottom line" course includes some of the areas of dentistry with the most activity and change in any given year. It is easily understood and has numerous summaries that help attendees to interpret the on-going advancements in the profession. The course encourages audience participation and questions, and is presented in an enjoyable and humorous manner.

Afternoon Lecture:

IMPLANTS VS. FIXED PROSTHESES: COMPARING THE CONFUSING OPTIONS

When should implants be placed, and when are conventional fixed prostheses the more logical treatment? What criteria favor the older, well-proven, conventional fixed appliance over implants? This presentation compares all aspects of the implant procedure with placement of fixed prostheses, including their comparative advantages and disadvantages.

Thursday, January 19, 2012 – Staff Lecture

Ms. Linda Miles & Dr. Tanya Brown

Lecture from 2 to 6 p.m., followed by a reception & heavy hors d'oeuvres.

Georgia Aquarium, 225 Baker Street NW, Atlanta, GA 30313

LEARNING, LIVING, & LOVING DENTISTRY

Ms. Linda Miles and Dr. Tanya Brown LOVE DENTISTRY! Both started their careers as teenage dental assistants. Once dentistry was "in their blood," they knew despite working hard, their journeys would be rewarding. Today, Linda Miles is considered one of dentistry's most respected, successful, and best loved consultants of all time. Dr. Brown worked chair side here in Atlanta, graduated from the Medical College of Georgia School of Dentistry, and she and her team have created one of the most successful practices in dentistry. Together in their fast-paced and practical presentation, they will share their perspectives on what it takes to have a highly skilled "dream team" as well as a highly productive, patient-centered practice. Linda will identify the practice within the practice that lies dormant in most offices and what it takes to reach optimum potential. Dr. Brown will outline how she and her team "connect the dots" with patients on a daily basis and how that connectivity increases referrals, drastically improves case acceptance and builds long term trust and friendships.
